Introducción de Sir John Elliott

A detailed coat of arms is positioned in the lower-left quadrant. It features a shield with a crown on top, surrounded by a decorative border. The shield is divided into four quarters, each containing a different heraldic symbol. A banner or ribbon scrolls across the top of the shield with the name 'PHILIPPO IV'.
